Summary: Spoke with RP who wanted advice regarding the electricity at her tenants residence. RP explained PG&E had turned off the tenants power due to lack of payment by the tenants. RP wanted to make sure she was not criminally liable for the power being shut off by PG&E. Rp explained tenants told RP she needed to pay their bill to get the power turned back on or she would be criminally liable for turning off tenants power. I explained to RP based on her explanation of the situation, she was not criminally liable for the power being turned off by PG&E for lack of payment by tenants. . Disposition: Civil Problem.
