17:18 WELFARE CHECK

Occurred on Greenwood Wy, Jamestown. Rpts her child care provider picked up her 4 yr old from school and took him to his father home for his visitation. she called the rp and told her she thought the subject had been drinking, rp told her to go back to the home and get the child, when she got there she knocked on the door but he did not answer, rp told her to go in, she told the rp the 4 yr old was just standing in the hallway and the ex was passed out on the bed..she took the child out of the house..rp is requesting a 10-21 Summary: I arrived at residence. I knocked on the door several times with no response. Inside dogs began barking still no response. I checked around the back of the house. Garage light was on, car in the garage. I continued along the rear of the residence to what i believed was bedroom window which had the blinds drawn preventing me from seeing inside. I returned to the front, knocked again, dogs continued to bark, still no response. I checked the door which was unlocked, advised dispatch of this and entered the residence. The inside of the house was completely blacked out. I turned on interior lights as I made my way to the back bedroom where I thought I might find . I did in fact find him asleep on his bed. I turned on his bedroom light and he woke up. appeared very "groggy" and possibly intoxicated, however, I did not smell the odor of alcoholic beverage. did admit he had been drinking earlier but could not tell me how much or what he had been drinking. I asked him where his 4 yr old son was. paused for a few seconds looking around the room then said was at daycare. I told had been brought to him by the baby sitter who suspected had been drinking. Rp instructed her to return and retrieve and return him to the RP. When the baby sitter returned, she found asleep and unable to wake up. was completely unaware that his son was gone until I advised him of this. I told that it was my opinion that he was in no condition to care for a child and that I advised Rp to not leave their child there and return to mediation and have their custody order modified. I added that he was free to complain about lack of visitation, however, based on Rp's report to me and verified by the condition in which I found tonight, I would not entertain any of his complaints until after he sought help for his condition and his condition was improved and the custody order was modified to protect their child.
