RP asked for documentation that RSP was at her residence. She gave me his last know phone number , and she said he drives a white Mazda miata. I told her to call us if he comes back and there is a problem. I called the phone number RP provided, but it went to voicemail. /// RSP returned my call, and he told me he has a package with struts for his car at the house. He said he paid RP cash, and she allowed him to use her card. The package was on the porch, but the struts were gone, and there was a brick in the box. Also, there was a young adult male at the house, verbally taunting RSP. I called RP back, and she said she paid for the struts, not RSP. RP accused RSP of taking some of her property when he left. I talked to RSP and explained that the issue with the struts is a civil matter because of the question of who paid for them. RSP said he was never evicted from the property; RP told him to leave, and he left the next day. RSP said RP allowed other people to take his property. I told RSP it is a civil matter and that he should not return to the property because it does not seem that it will help the situation. RSP said he no longer lives in the county because RP had him leave the residence. RSP does not have a current address, and he said he will talk to his probation office in two days to have his information up-dated. . Disposition: Civil Problem.

Rp feels like she was threatened by her boyfriend, tonight at her residence. Rp says that she feels like they ambushed her and she was run out of her residence and is afraid to go home.

summary: RP said there was no physical violence, only emotional abuse. RSP is RP's boyfriend of approximately two years, and they live together and file taxes together; RP's daughter also lives with them. RSP is RP's financial beneficiary. RSP controls finances and pays RP's phone bill, and her car is in his name. RSP refused to pay the car's registration as an attempt to control RP. RSP sends RP harassing text messages anytime she uses the bank card to make a purchase. RSP does not let RP turn on the heater because he pays the electric bill. RSP travels for work, so he is only home a few days out of the week. He leaves RP with money for expenses when he is out of town. RSP's brother works for PML, and he has also been emotionally abusive to RP, saying that she is taking advantage of his brother, etc. RP had to leave the residence tonight with her daughter because the brother told her to leave or he would make her leave. RSP stood-by and watched. He asked RP if she was going to stand up for herself. RSP and his brother drink regularly, and they become verbal abusive once they start drinking. RP was worried RSP could make her leave the residence permanently. I told RP that he would have to evict her. I asked RP if she has considered filling a restraining order against the brother. I gave RP the phone number for the Women's Center/ TRO clinic that is on the case receipts because she said she would want to talk to someone to help her with the process. RP asked for documentation of the emotional abuse in case it escalates to physical violence. I gave RP a case receipt with the incident report number and my contact information. . Disposition: Log Note.
