07:34 ADVICE 1608150018

Occurred on Ivy Dr, Sonora. Req 10-21. States he and his wife are going through a separation/divorce and she left res last night with their children to go "the house across the highway" unknown location. Rp states he has made several attempts to contat her via 10-21 however she is not picking up the line. RP states it is possible that she doesn't want to talk to him and intentionally not picking up the phone. No custody paperwork. RP would like to discuss options. Ref 1608140102

Summary: RP last heard from his wife at around 0100 hours when he got a text from her saying she and the children were staying with "Ariana" at "Ariana's" house. "Ariana" is the babysitter the RP's wife hired to care for their children. RP stated his wife is filing for divorce against him. RP's wife is not answering calls, and he did not know if that was because she just didn't want to talk to him or because her phone had a dead battery. RP stated he does not know where "Ariana" lives, and his wife and children have not yet returned home. RP stated he had full custody of the children and his wife was violating his custody. I asked the RP how he had full custody, and he stated he had full custody as the children's biological father. RP admitted no custody agreement or court order exists for the children's custody. I explained to the RP that he did not have full custody, he and his wife had equal rights to the children. I attempted to explain to him that he would have to file for custody of the children with the court, but the RP interrupted me repeatedly to argue that he had full custody and his wife could not take his children. I attempted to explain to the RP that, until a civil agreement was reached between him and his wife, the Sheriff's Office could not take sides in the matter. RP claimed I was refusing to help him find his family and became increasingly beligerent. RP asked if there was another law enforcement agency he could speak to, and was informed that because he lived outside the city limits of Sonora, the Sheriff's Office was the agency that would handle his complaint. RP then told me "I'm pretty sure the city I live in is Sonora" even though he confirmed he lives on Ivy Dr. I told the RP where the city limits ended and repeated that he would need to pursue custody issues through the civil court system. RP could not articulate any threat or danger to his wife or children, just that they were not at home and his wife (who is divorcing him) would not answer his call. RP was extremely angry and was adamant that I had no idea what I was talking about. RP told me there would be "a big problem" before hanging up with me.

Occurred on Hwy 120, Groveland. Rp has recovered some of his stolen property
x-refer C 15002615

Summary: RP recovered his missing coin collection after speaking to . was not in possession of the coins, but knew where they were "stashed." told the RP he did not know how the coins got there or who put them there. claimed some of his own personal coins were there as well, but he could not go recover them because the coins were being monitored. RP asked what that meant, and said if he went to where the coins were "bad things would happen." RP went and got the coins without issue. RP wanted to know what to do with the remaining coins that weren't his. According to the RP, the coins that did not belong to him were probably worth a lot of money, and he did not believe they belonged to . RP was told he could turn the coins in to the Sheriff's Office as found property and attempts would be made to locate the rightful owners. I informed the RP I would look further into involvement in the incident. RP also wanted information about the case from 2015, and I told him I would have to look into the incident to find additional information. I collected the RP's contact information so I could follow up with him about what I learned. -1665. . Disposition: Log Note.

15:23 ANY CIVIL PROBLEM*1608150077

Occurred at Amy Dr/Amy Dr, Sonora. Ex is not responding to text messages about getting his daughter. rp in lobby with paperwork

Summary: RP reported he has texted his ex, , for the last couple of hours but she is not responding, except to tell him the child is at day care. The RP did not believe the day care existed as he can't find it. I have dealt with other parents using the same daycare and advised it does exist. RP was upset that I did not believe this would qualify as a violation of a court order. I reminded him his ex might be at work, info was given as to such, and that we are in the mtns. where cell phones are notorious for not working. RP told me they text all the time while his ex is at work and she just isn't responding right now because RP wants the child. RP left the lobby angry stating we won't help him; RP seemed disappointed his ex would not get in trouble. I called the ex at the hospital, where she was at work, and the ex advised she had given the RP the info to pick up the child last night and he did not ask for further info. RP advised it is against hospital policy for her to use her cell phone at work and she has already gotten into trouble for it. Ex was very cooperative and gave me the phone number for the daycare so I could pass it on to the RP. I called the RP and gave the RP the phone number. No violation occurred. RP then had his new wife call back and accuse the ex of a conspiracy and "concealing" the child. I spoke to the day care who assured me there was no conspiracy as the new wife indicated. I then spoke to the ex again who advised she did not know her boyfriend had picked up the child but the RP was welcome to pick the child up. Spoke to the RP again who insisted a crime occurred and didn't agree with me because his ex didn't give him absolutely every piece of information about the daycare and didn't respond to his text messages while at work. I explained again LE deals with laws being broken, no law was broken whether he agreed with it or not. RP had already picked up the child and described it as hostile and said there was not supposed to be any kind of verbal communications; he wasn't speaking to his ex. nfa. . - 17:37 THREATS - ALL 1608150105
Occurred at Sierra Bible Church on Tuolumne Rd. , Sonora. 10-21 rp rpts tro vio and threats from her ex
Summary: RP reported her ex notified her there was a scheduled visit for today, but when the RP's mother arrived at the church for the visit there was no one there. RP stated her mother did not drop the child off because there was no supervisor for the visit, and her ex started "blowing up her phone" about the situation. RP also stated her ex called her and sent her text messages "harassing" her about her current pregnancy. RP said her ex was in violation of a TRO, and they were going to court in September so she could get the court to remove all visitation and contact rights from her ex. I informed the RP her TRO expired on 7/6/2016 and the only order on file for her was the latest custody agreement between her and her ex. RP blamed the court for "screwing everything up like they always do." I instructed the RP to bring a copy of any current TRO to the Sheriff's Office or pursue a new TRO through the court. -1665. . Occurred on Confidence Rd, Twain Harte. Rp states that his mother is talking about suicide. Rp states that she has not been eating. Rp states the resp is just sitting on the couch, no means mentioned.

Summary: RSP did not meet 5150 W&I requirements. RP said she did talk about wanting to die, but she claimed she was not serious. RSP is getting divorced after 16 years of marriage, and she is depressed. Her 18 YOA son, RP, is very concerned because he has never seen his mother act in such a way. I explained to RSP that the things she was saying caused her son to worry about her. RSP said she did not consider what she was saying in front of her son. I explained to RP that his mother did not meet the 5150 W&I requirements, and I could not detain her for an evaluation solely based on what he told me she said. I also explained this to RP's father, who is RSP's soon to be ex-husband. No further action taken.
